Senior Community Service Employment Program Narrative

Older Americans Act Title V

Program / Element / Component -- 20

Description

The Senior Community Service Employment Program (SCSEP) provides part-time work-based training opportunities for older workers in local community service agencies and assists program participants in obtaining unsubsidized employment. While training in community service positions, participants provide non-profit or government “host agencies” with support to provide community services.

The Program provides participants with a variety of supportive services such as personal and job-related counseling, job-related training prior to and as preparation for community service assignments, job search assistance, and job referral.

The United States Department of Labor (DOL), Employment Training Administration, is the Federal agency responsible for administering SCSEP. Fiscal Year (FY) 2011-12 funding¹ supported 719 participant training slots administered by the California Department of Aging (CDA) and 2,744 participant training slots administered by eight National SCSEP Grantees in California. Each participant training slot may serve more than one participant over the course of the year.

CDA contracts with 15 Area Agencies on Aging (AAA) to provide local SCSEP services, and collaborates with the National Grantees for equitable distribution of the remaining California participant training slots. The 15 AAAs provide services directly or by contract.

Benefits

SCSEP fosters individual economic self-sufficiency and increases the number of persons who may benefit from unsubsidized employment in both the public and private sectors. Placing older individuals in community service employment training positions strengthens their ability to become self-sufficient, provides support to organizations that benefit from increased civic engagement, and strengthens the communities served by such organizations. In FY 2011-12, CDA’s SCSEP participants provided 661,268 subsidized community service hours.

¹In FY 2011-12, Federal SCSEP grants were reduced 25 percent nationwide. In addition, supplemental Federal SCSEP grant funds expired in FY 2011-12. These combined reductions resulted in a 41 percent reduction in SCSEP funding from FY 2010-11.
